Cloud seeding takes off

By JIM JONES

An air traffic controllers' strike and an absence of rain clouds over Lake Okechobee Tuesday, Aug. 3, threatened to delay the start of the 59-day cloud seeding program designed to recharge Lake Okechobee and the Kissimmee River Valley.

Stanley Winn, South Florida Water Management District project officer for the seeding program, said Monday that "cancellation of the project is possible" as a result of the air traffic controller's strike.

Project planners feared that delays in coordination with the Federal Aviation Administration because of the strike could affect the project.

Pilots who will be seeding clouds said, however, that their mission will be made no more dangerous by the strike as they fly at a different altitude than commercial liners.

Tuesday, SFWMD spokesman Larry Nunn said that the first seeding operation had been set for Tuesday morning, but that the absence of clouds over the target area had scrubbed the mission until at least the afternoon.

Winn said Monday that even if the project is set back a week to 10 days by the strike or poor weather conditions, it could still be completed under the terms of the contract with Weather Consultants, Inc.

"Another impact of the strike would be a reduction in the number of airplanes carrying out seeding at any given time."

A total of three aircraft may be used at one time for Project 2WM (the official designation given the project by the Water Management District). These include two Piper Navajos and one Cessna 421, which is pressurized. Each is equipped with seeding racks capable of holding up to 200 silver iodine flares. Only flight personnel will be allowed on the aircraft for what is described as a very bumpy ride.

Pilots normally try to stay away from cumulus clouds, the fluffy white clouds with the cauliflower appearance, but cloud seeders seek them out.

Pilot Claude Youngren said that calling cloud seeders "rain makers" is inaccurate. "We don't make the clouds. We talk in terms of rain augmentation or rain increase," he said.

Two of the 2WM airplanes will be flying out of West Palm Beach and the third will fly out of either Stuart or Ft. Pierce.

Even if the strike keeps some of the planes on the ground, Winn said that one aircraft can still do a very effective job. He said that he doubted that all three aircraft would be in the air at one time anyway because of the problem of directing all three simultaneously from the ground.

"Each plane can carry 200 flares and can seed quite a number of clouds," Winn said.

Winn said that the goal of Project 2WM is to increase rainfall 10 to 40 percent, but that he would settle for increasing the soil moisture of the Kissimmee River Valley to induce runoff which would eventually feed into Lake Okechobee.

Exact quantitative results of the cloud seeding operation, however, may never be known, he said.

Winn said that "surprisingly little criticism" of the project has surfaced, but that he expected more as the public learns more about the program.

The District will carefully choose times for seeding to be carried out to minimize hazards.

Winn said that law suits have been brought against seeding operations in the past, but that he knew of none that had succeeded.

Possible suspension criteria for the project includes: 1. Periods when excessive rain is likely to occur, 2. The "sociological" aspects of seeding when severe storms are forecast or already exist, 3. When soil moisture levels are determined to be adequate, and 4. In the event of damaging floods when excessive rainfall is in the project area.

Sheila Middaugh, public information officer for the district, said, "We have been trying to contact local governments for any input one way or the other."

"Most officials don't know enough about it to be totally in favor of it. We are trying to acquaint them with the project," she said.

Clouds are made up of very small droplets of water. At least some of these droplets must freeze in order to create rain. Unfortunately, some clouds may not rise to altitudes where there are the required, colder temperatures. The ice forming process may be enhanced by introducing additional particles, called "seeding" agents into the cloud. Silver iodine particles are typically used as these seeding agents.

Cost of the seeding project is set at $352,576. Cost of the silver iodine flares account for $59,600 of that total.

Approximately one-quarter of the price of the seeding operation will be picked up by the state. Federal assistance is also being sought.

Two things may result from seeding. First, ice crystals form and grow big enough to fall as rain.

Second, when seeding material is delivered in the right amount and location within the cloud, an effect known as "dynamic seeding" occurs. Large amounts of water are converted into ice, and, in the process of freezing, heat is released into the cloud, causing it to grow larger and taller.

This larger and taller cloud produces more rain.

Pilot Claude Youngren said that the flares, released from a rack on the belly of the plane, fall and burn for about 7,000 feet. The burning portion of the flare is about the size of a man's thumb, he said.

Some from the flare is what seeds the cloud, he said.

John Walser, one of the pioneers of cloud seeding, was on hand Monday, taking personal charge of preparations for the project.

Walser, based in San Jose, Calif., first became in aerial seeding in 1951. He noted that aerial seeding has been superseded by ground generation of smoke, but that aerial seeding is making a strong comeback.

Aerial seeding has the advantage of being more process and selective. Ground seeding requires a great number of ground generators, which have to be turned of and on as clouds move across the sky.

Walser said that in the summer of 1978, his company seeded a 4,500 square mile area between Savannah and Augusta, Ga., and that farmers in that area were well pleased with the results. The SFWMD checked with the Georgia farmers before awarding the contract.

According to a fact sheet published by the SFWMD, there is no evidence of negative effects from cloud seeding

JOHN WANSEER was in West Palm Beach Monday, Aug. 3, as preparations for a 5,000 square mile cloud seeding operation to recharge Lake Okechobee were completed.

Behind Wanser is one of the airplanes which will be used to fire silver iodine flares into cumulus clouds.

Inspection station closes Saturday

Richard A. Pries, director of Palm Beach County Highway Safety Division, announced Wednesday, July 29, that motor vehicle inspection stations in Pahokee and Lantana will close permanently Saturday, Aug. 8, at 5:30 p.m.

It is necessary that the county close these stations due to a loss of personnel and a reduction in business as a result of the termination of the motor vehicle inspection program on Sept. 30.

Motor vehicle inspection stations in Riviera Beach, West Palm Beach, and Delray Beach will remain open until further notice. Also remaining open until the Sept. 30 program termination date is the Clewiston inspection station.

Vehicles rejected at the Pahokee or Lantana stations may be reinspected only at the West Palm Beach station on Belvedere Road.

City commissioners zero in on balanced budget

By JIM JONES

BELLE GLADE—Using a combination of budget cuts and proposed rate increases, Belle Glade City Commissioners appeared to have overcome a $340,030 budget deficit for fiscal 1981-1982 during a budget workshop Monday evening, Aug. 3.

The commission will review the budget once again following their regular Monday night meeting, Aug. 10.

The budget presented to commissioners Monday night totaled $4,912,438, up about $900,000 over the end of the year forecast.

City Finance Director Frank Anderson told commissioners that only about $4,572,408 in revenue is anticipated for the coming fiscal year.

City Commissioner Charles Goodlett said at the beginning of Monday's workshop that he was disappointed in this year's budget and had hoped that it would have been balanced by this time.

Goodlett said that the $137,000 reserve figure was too low and that the reserve needed to be built up again.

"We can't continue to operate by taking money from the reserve to balance the budget," he said. "Are we going to sit down here and do what the people of Belle Glade expect us to do and that is to operate the city with the revenue provided?"

City Manager Rolfe Wagner said that he had not perceived the depth of feeling by commissioners over the size of the reserve. He asked for their guidelines in cutting the budget and said he would enthusiastically carry out their instructions.

"I don't have any sacred cows in the budget," he said.

Mayor Thomas Altman credited the administration (Wagner) with doing a good job in rounding the budget into shape, noting that $1 million had been trimmed from the original proposal of $5.9 million.

Goodlett agreed with the mayor's assessment, saying, "There has been a lot of good work put in here."

Altman also gave Finance Director Frank Anderson credit for the existence of a cash carryover in this year's budget, citing his foresight and advice at the start of the fiscal year.

Commissioners were able to reduce the $340,030 deficit to approximately $212,000 by taking $127,847 from the marina fund.

Proposed increases in garbage rates, golf course rates, the water administration charge, and civic center rental fees, and elimination of $3,000 for publication of the annual report and $15,000 for the racquet ball court narrowed the gap to $88,000.

Commissioners whittled a number of smaller figures from various budgets to bring the budget deficit down to $78,850.

At this point, the budget cutting process ground to a halt as commissioners searched for some way to balance their projected expenditures with money available.

Mayor Thomas Altman suggested finally that the proposed three-tier employee compensation plan, which would give employees a hike in their base pay, a cost of living increase, and a merit increase for selected employees, be modified.

Altman suggested that instead of raising all salaries in October, that the raises be deferred until January.

City Manager Wagner said that he believed the difference in the budget could be made up in two months, rather than three.

Altman called his idea a better alternative than a reduction of the reserve or a "hatchet job" on employee compensation as a whole.

Commissioners referred the proposal to Finance Director Anderson to determine the savings to be achieved by deferring a portion of employee compensation package.

In addition to balancing their budget, commissioners were also able to restore their reserve to the desired $350,000 level as a result of Monday's workshop.

When the programs are conducted properly, using well-planned criteria to decide when to seed, and when not to seed.

The SFWMD Governing Board authorized the seeding project on July 27 to augment rainfall in an area of about 5,000 square miles, which covers the major basins feeding Lake Okeechobee.

All Project 2WM operations will be controlled from the SFWMD in West Palm Beach.

The operations control center contains radar, satellite photography, and other systems required for daily decision making, communications and seeding flight control.

Two inmates recaptured

Two inmates who overpowered a guard and escaped from Palm Beach County Jail Sunday, July 26, were recaptured about six hours later following a joint search by the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department and the Belle Glade Police Department, said Detective Steve Haller.

James R. Tucker and Thomas M. Steven forced a bar loose from their cell and gained access to the hallway on the second floor of the jail and hid behind a bin.

The two inmates overpowered a deputy sheriff a few minutes later, who was making his rounds to pass out medication.

The inmates held a homemade knife to the deputy's throat, questioned him about the number of personnel working in the booking area and told him that if he resisted he would be hurt.

They then tied the deputy and gagged him with strips of bed sheets. The inmates proceeded to the ground floor, rushed a deputy behind the booking desk and another deputy in the shakedown room. They overpowered the two deputies, used handcuffs and legions to secure them, and placed them in an empty cell.

Before fleeing, the inmates were able to unlock a gun container and remove a .357 magnum four inch Python revolver belonging to one of the deputies.

At the intersection of South Main Street and West Avenue A, the inmates attempted to commandeer a vehicle driven by Diluvino Gonzalez of Belle Glade. Gonzalez sped away when one of the inmates attempted to step into the car.

Gonzalez left the inmate standing in the street and drove to the Belle Glade Police Department to report the incident.

The two inmates fled toward East Avenue A on foot.

Meanwhile, a perimeter under the command of Inspector Mike Miller of the BCPD and Lt. Mike Mills of the PBCSO was set up. A joint sheriff's police K-9 unit was brought in, and the sheriff's helicopter joined the search.

Following a phone tip about 3:35 a.m. that the inmates were in the area of 317 S.W. 3rd St., Deputy Sheriff Dennis Maynor and Belle Glade Police Officer Rodriguez arrived on the scene and arrested the two inmates.

They were transported to the county jail and charged with escape, aggravated assault, false imprisonment and grand theft.

Karate expert is a smash

By SCOTT ELLIS

Sixteen inches of concrete is no match for Mark Gorgans.

Gorgans, assistant pastor at the Belle Glade Alliance Church, smashed through 16 inches of concrete Friday night in a special demonstration during his church's vacation Bible school.

Gorgans, 24, has practiced martial arts since he was 7. He uses his demonstrations, he says, to help teach the gospel.

And while he didn't make it all the way through the blocks with one blow, he did get through 12 inches with one blow. He got the other four with a less-powerful second blow.

A Miami native who graduated with a theological degree from Toccoa Falls College in Georgia, Gorgans is in the Guinness Book of World Records for his karate feats.

Alliance Pastor Mark O'Farrell said Gorgans has performed his karate more than 500 times, all around the nation.

Gorgans, who weighs 150 pounds and stands 5 feet 7, also taught self defense while at Toccoa. He says he has never injured himself during his demonstrations.

"I have to superimpose an image in my head of the boards being broken, before I can strike," he said. "When I see the image, then I go."

Gorgans, like other karate experts, used spacers between each of the two-inch boards. Without these spacers, Gorgans said most karate experts would find it impossible to break through all the boards without injury.

Gorgans said he uses pennies as spacers. Possessing a black belt, Gorgans said he hits the boards with about 200 pounds per square inch of pressure every time he attempts the feat.

Making the summer go by

As the summer draws to a close for many of the Glades area recreational programs, Glades youths have much to be thankful for. For the past several weeks a diversified group of programs have been within their grasp.

The City of Belle Glade has sponsored a well rounded program of swimming at the Lake Shore Pool, games at Lake Shore Park and Airport Park and a variety of activities at Glades Central Community School which included a visit by the Glades Correctional Institute body building team.

The Palm Beach County School board has provided a number of programs at various schools around the Lake that not only included supervised instruction but a hot nutritious lunch as well.

The YMCA of Palm Beach will close out its sixth year of Glad Day Camp for youths living in the South Bay area. For the past eight weeks the students have been transported to John Stretch Park where they were engaged in a number of recreational activities, including weekly visits to the Lake Shore Pool and Glades Skate World in addition to field trips to the coast.

If Glades youths wanted to earn some money this summer, the Urban League of Palm Beach County and the County Commission had that possible.

Approximately 500 students participated in on the job or classroom training programs. (Continued on Page 8)

PAHOKEE'S Vehicle Inspection Station will close Aug. 8, leaving residents without a convenient inspection station.

Exception needed

The state's motor vehicle inspection program is withering on the vine. The program expires statewide Oct. 1.

Inspection stations at Pahokee and Lantana close Saturday, Aug. 8. The monster is dying in stages, rather than all at once as should be the case.

It is a death which is long overdue and well deserved. It failed to remove the rolling wreck from the highway. On any trip across town or cross country, the observant driver will observe any number of dilapidated, barely running vehicles occupying road space.

The combined efforts of the Florida Highway Patrol and the inspection program failed to keep cars and trucks with burned out headlights off the road. It's almost certain that at least one vehicle with a burned out headlight will be encountered on almost any night drive.

It is possible that the motor vehicle inspection program did save lives. Some safety hazards were discovered by the inspectors. This is the program's only redeeming feature.

Many of the cars which used Florida roads were never inspected: cars driven by tourists from states which have no inspection law.

The state legislature recognized this year that the inspection program is dispensable. Rather than cancelling the program, however, they left that chore for the individual counties to carry out.

Residents of the Glades are faced with the problem of being required to continue having their vehicles inspected until Oct. 1, while all the only local inspection station closes Aug. 8.

This requirement is unfair to local residents, who will be required to drive to either Clewiston or the east coast to meet the letter of the law.

Some provision should be made for the closing of the Pahokee inspection station so that local drivers are not unfairly penalized.

The teenagers of Pahokee, armed with a petition, marched 35-strong to the board meeting of the Pahokee Youth Center and came away with the board's approval for a continuation of their weekend dances at the Center.

Members of the board of directors had decreed no more dances after some disturbance on the outside at a dance. The young people drew up the petition and came in a group to pledge their good behavior and their assistance in patrolling the grounds to prevent another occurrence.

Preliminary work was begun on the preparation of the site for the milling facilities to be known as the Glades Sugar House, and associated access roads.

The mill was to be located on the airport road just northeast of Belle Glade.

The County Commission, which had been hounded for weeks by those favoring and those opposing changes in the hours of operation of liquor stores in the Glades, were faced with another plea for change from a different quarter.

The liquor dealers claimed that a recent vote which kept the hours the same as had previously been in effect, were not a true vote of the majority.

H. L. Speer, assistant agriculture agent for the Glades, estimated that there were around 5,000 acres of undeveloped Glades lands going into cattle pastures that summer with a large acreage of land used for vegetable farming the previous winter and spring planted to pasture grasses.

Speer said that approximately 10,000 acres of feed corn had been planted in the Glades that summer and that corn harvesting machines were being widely used.

Farmers reported that it was cheaper to buy a machine than to pay the prevailing high prices for day labor. At that time of the year, field labor was scarce as most of the migrant laborers followed the crops up through New York State.

W.H. (Bill) Jones purchased a lot from Fred Hickenon on the State Market Road not far from the Pahokee-Canal Point highway. He started erection of a new building for a machine shop which he would use in connection with his farming.

A gala night was enjoyed by members of the Pahokee Lodge of Elks. Forty members of the Miami Beach lodge visited the local lodge. A bus load of Elks from West Palm Beach were also present. Lake Worth sent 36 members. The visitors dined on fish and swamp cabbage.

Preliminary construction on the new aviation training base seven miles southeast of Moore Haven began and the development was expected to rapidly accelerate when some of the main construction began.

The new field would have a capacity of 250 student pilots and would be used for the advancement of primary students through the second or basic phase of military aviation.

It was to become the first basic training field to be built in South Florida.

Possibilities of growing kenaf in the Everglades was discussed before the Pahokee Rotarians by Luther Jones, Belle Glade Herald publisher.

Addition of one cent to the tax on gasoline, resented by farmers who use that fuel in their tractors, had created renewed interest in the use of distillate in tractors. Using distillate was seen as a means of avoiding a tax regarded as unjust.

Cutting taxes

I was heartened by Pres. Reagan's tax cut victory in Congress last week. Howard Baker was heartened. The President even liked it. Tip O'Neill didn't.

It was a victory over the stall, the stonewall, and partisan politics.

There were some sour pussies who attacked the tax cut proposal, saying it benefited only the rich.

I wouldn't exactly call myself rich, but as I understand the bill, I won't be required to share quite as much of my wampum with Uncle Sam over the next three years.

I appreciate being able to keep a few more pennies at home, rather than sending them off to Chamblee, Georgia, regional HQ of the IRS.

I also like the provision in the new bill that encourages saving by allowing a tad more interest to remain tax free.

"I hold it to be our duty to see that the wageworker, the small producer, the ordinary consumer, shall get their fair share of the benefit of business prosperity. But it either is or ought to be evident to everyone that business has to prosper before anybody can get any benefit from it."

Theodore Roosevelt: Address to the Ohio Constitutional Convention, Feb. 1, 1912

It's aggravating enough trying to save during inflationary times without having the interest eaten up by IRS.

If it sounds as if I like the direction the President is taking the country, you hear me loud and clear.

The President's marks just continue to improve. Frankly, I was a little concerned before the election.

I half believed some of the scuttlebutt floating around that he was a senile old man and a bad actor to boot.

There was a concern also that he would have us in a war with some one two hours into his presidency.

Reagan allayed my fears during his televised debate with Jimmy Carter. The debate showed that Reagan was sharp as a tack and had a sense of humor as well.

A lot of Americans made up their minds then and there that Jimmy Carter should be retired to Plains to write his memoirs, while a new man took over the Oval Office.

"The business of America is business."

Calvin Coolidge: Speech before Society of American Newspaper Editors, Washington, Jan. 17, 1925

It is evident that bureaucracy has been piled on bureaucracy since the 1930s. It is time for some tightening up.

No one denies that there is waste in government. We would probably be shocked if we knew just how bad the situation really is.

Government has proven to itself that it cannot cater to the needs of every special interest or to every individual.

What it can and should do is carry out the provisions of the Constitution to guarantee the rights of all the people, including equal opportunity under the law.

We know now that the government should not and cannot be expected to individually tend to the needs of citizens from the cradle to the grave. Reagan recognizes what other presidents before have known: a sick economy is a sick country. He is moving the country back to a position of strength. For this we should all be thankful.

Curing hoof and mouth disease

According to Florida Farm Bureau's "AGRI-facts," the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports that a vaccine for curing "foot-and-mouth disease" has been developed through genetic engineering. We're enlightened on two counts: we thought animals had hoof-and-mouth disease and that the foot-and-mouth ailment, from which we suffer occasional attacks, was a human malady. It's going to be a comfort to know when foot-and-mouth attacks hit us in the future that we're not responsible — it's hereditary.

BELLE GLADE — As the Belle Glade City Commission race heats up, the qualifying of Robert Jones, 28, of 516 S.W. Ave. E., Apt. 212 ensures a two way race in all three of the borough seats up for grabs.

Jones, the latest candidate to file, took the oath of candidacy Thursday at City Hall.

Jones, a graduate of Pahokee High School and Texas College in Tyler, Tx., will oppose William Grear in the West Borough contest.

Jones said this is the first time he's run for political office and is still putting his platform together. In an interview

Tuesday, Jones said his campaign workers were to meet Tuesday evening to work out the details of his campaign.

Jones is employed by Florida Farmworkers Council as coordinator of the Title XX Program.

Former City Commissioner and Mayor William Grear filed to run in the West Borough on Sept. 15.

At the time of his filing, Grear said a number of persons in the community had approached him about running again.

Grear, 57, moved to Belle Glade from Arcadia and has been a resident of the Glades for 24 years. He served on the Belle Glade City Commission for ten years before he was defeated by incumbent Randy Davidson and Alma Henry. Although he said he doesn't believe in long platforms, Grear cited improving the water system and generating more low-income housing are two of his main goals.

Incumbent Randy Davidson still has not made his plans known as to whether he will run for re-election and Daniel Bytwood of 1217 has picked up a package. Bytwood files he would run in the West Borough. In the East Borough, veteran Glades newspaper reporter, Iz Nachman and incumbent Dorothy Walker have filed to run.

Nachman, of 1008 S.E. Second St., is a political newcomer. Nachman recently retired as bureau chief of the Palm Beach Times and is presently employed as a reporter with the Glades Trend Newspaper, Inc.

At the time of Nachman's filing on July 22, he said he is no newcomer to City Hall and for a long time wanted to do something for the city.

"If I can, I want to do something about how the city's money is spent."

In the North Borough, incumbent Claude Tindall and Roney Parrish have filed to run.

Tindall, running for his third term this year, had no competition two years ago. He filed on Friday, July 17 at 8 a.m., the first day of qualifying.

He lives at 1600 NW Ave. N, and is a former captain of the Glades-sub station for the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department. He has put in 36 years in sheriff's departments in six Florida counties before his retirement in 1977. He is also a member of the Solid Waste Budget and Policy Advisory Board.

"I'll carry on as I have been if I'm reelected," Tindall said. "I'm proud of what I've been able to accomplish on the commission and I've enjoyed it...the city is by far better than it used to be," he added.

Parrish, 60, lives at 508 NW Third St. A resident of Belle Glade since 1941, he was on the commission for four years during the early mid-1960's. Parrish served one year as mayor.

He feels his experience as mayor and commissioner can be an asset.

"I want to try and improve the city," said Parrish.

"I want to try and clean it up, garbage wise," he added.

Would be candidates have until Aug. 28 to qualify and persons wishing to qualify are asked to contact City Clerk June Boglioli for more information. All candidates must be at least 21 and reside in the borough that they intend to represent. They must also have been a city resident for more than a year.

Persons wishing to register to vote in the Sept. 15 election have until Aug. 15 to register.

Walker seeks re-election

BELLE GLADE—Incumbent Dorothy Walker, 25, qualified Wednesday, July 29, as a candidate for the East Borough city commission seat in the Sept. 15 election.

Glades Trend reporter Iz Nachman, a new-comer to the local political scene, has also qualified for that race.

Walker is a native of Belle Glade, the youngest of six children and a 1973 graduate of Glades Central Community High School.

At Glades Central, she was voted "Most likely to succeed" and "Most Outstanding Student Government President."

Upon graduation from GCHS, she attended Palm Beach Junior College for a year before going on to Florida Atlantic University, where she was the first woman and first black elected student government president.

She graduated from

FAU in 1976 with a bachelor's degree in criminology.

After working on her masters degree in 1977, she went on to the University of Miami, where she earned a law degree in 1980.

She was elected to the East Borough seat in 1979, defeating incumbent Kenneth Harris in the primary election.

A law suit followed, challenging her residency. The court upheld her election earlier this year.

She is now employed by the Pahokee law firm of Gary, Lewis and Williams.

"I've always been committed to Belle Glade and to the upward mobility of Belle Glade," she said, adding that she wanted to apply the knowledge gleaned from her education to the city.

"That is why I returned to Belle Glade," she said. "I think I've been a positive addition to the community and believe that I can continue to be so."

Walker said her number one priority is to improve Belle Glade housing. "We know that we have a severe housing program," she said. "It has become even more severe because of the influx of refugees. The problem wasn't caused overnight and it can't be solved overnight."

Walker said that although water and sewer rate increases can be expected, consumers will be getting more or their money.

She sees housing as the primary problem facing the city. If a person lives in a healthy environment, he will have a healthy mind, she said.

Walker said that her record shows that her "vote and concern is for the city as a whole," and that her votes have been cast "for the city in a positive manner."

Former experiment director dies

Dr. Robert V. Allison, former director of the Belle Glade Agriculture and Experiment Center, died at his home Wednesday afternoon, July 29. He was 86.

He was born on a farm in northwestern Ohio June 25, 1895, the youngest of six children.

He taught in one-room country schools for two years which paid him $50 a month. He walked to school over six miles of dirt roads, which were sometimes muddy and sometimes deep in snow.

He decided to enroll in Purdue University after an older, married sister offered a room without charge at her home in Lafayette, Ind.

He earned his BS degree in 1920, after working his way through college by completing small jobs for his professors.

With scholarship help from Rutgers University in New Jersey, he earned his masters and then a doctorate in Soils Chemistry, the doctorate being earned in 1923.

The following year, he was in Rothamsted Agricultural Station in England, the oldest of its kind in Europe. He did his post doctoral work there.

In 1924, he was commissioned by the Tropical Plant Research Foundation of Washington, D.C. to conduct with H. H. Bennett of the U.S. Bureau of Soils a reconnaissance of the soils of Cuba.

He then became affiliated with the University of Florida as vice president of the new Everglades Experiment Station in Belle Glade.

His arrival in Belle Glade was delayed by the 1926 hurricane.

Upon his arrival, he was quick to get started on elaborate test plots to determine why some plants sprouted, grew then failed.

His work with trace elements revealed the need for copper and other minerals in trace amounts on the sawgrass soil of the open glades.

Many of the tests were damaged by the 1928 hurricane, but others took their place as work progressed.

After 25 years, the University placed him in charge of research on natural fibers. He concentrated most of his attention on ramie. He had obtained cuttings of the plant from the U.S. Department of Plant Industry in 1923.

He retired at age 70 but continued working as fiber technologist emeritus for 16 years.

He married Martha Williamson of Kansas City in 1933. They had two daughters, Gail Blissitt and Karin Schultz and five grandchildren.

Dr. Allison worked for an aerial map of the state of Florida, which was valuable during the start of the rapid growth of the state in the 1950s.

He founded the Soil Science Society of Florida in 1939 and served as its first president. He was secretary-treasurer for 25 years.

The Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association presented its annual research award to him in 1957 in recognition of his discovery of the need for copper and other trace minerals in the peat soils of the Everglades.

He was a life member of AAAS, a fellow of the American Agronomy Society, member of the Cosmos Club of Washington, D.C., listed in the American Who's Who of Science, past Rotary Club president, and member of the Community United Methodist Church.

Northwood Funeral Home in West Palm Beach was in charge of arrangements. His remains were returned to Foreverglades Mausoleum Gardens in Belle Glade.

Glades Business World...

Lockhart Ford wins awards

By SCOTT ELLIS

Editor's Note: This feature inaugurates a regular feature of the Herald-Observer. Glades Businessworld is intended to be a marketplace of news for the merchants of our area.

We start our endeavor with a look at one of the region's most stable and successful businesses—Doug Lockhart Ford.

If you have any changes in your organization that you would like to announce to the public, perhaps a new employee, a promotion, or the opening of a new branch or entirely new operation—we at the Herald-Observer would like to know about it and put it in this column. Give us a call! The number is 996-2056.

Stability and outstanding service—more than anything else—is what Doug Lockhart Ford stands for, says Vice President Ed Rongione.

"When you're dealing in a small town like ours, you must have confidence and have a strong team. And I think people have confidence in us," Rongione said. "We sure have a lot of repeat customers. There has to be a reason that they come back."

Lockhart Ford was established in 1944, to become Belle Glade's first Ford dealership.

It was called Belle Glade Motors then, changed to Ron Marlowe Motors briefly in the early 1960s, then to Watson Ford in 1965.

Doug Lockhart came to Belle Glade Motors as a salesman 26 years ago. He became part-owner of the dealership when it changed to Watson Ford.

In 1979, Lockhart became the number one owner and he changed the name of business to Doug Lockhart Ford.

Rongione and his sales staff have been at Lockhart Ford for quite awhile too. Their combined experience totals more than 150 years in the car and truck sales business.

Rongione has worked up to the number two position, in the company, after nine years with the firm. Truck Manager Dick May has been with Lockhart for 14 years. Body Shop Manager Herb Lewis has been with Lockhart Ford for 15 years.

Parts Manager Connie Bowen has more years with the dealership than anyone else—36. He won a Silver Medallion award from Ford this year, for being second in excellence among parts managers in the state of Florida. Only 300 managers received this award.

Rongione and May each won Ford Society of Professional Managers Awards this year. For Ed it was his fifth award in a row; for May, it was his sixth in a row.

Other award winners on Lockhart team include: —Business Manager Jackie Rawls, a nine-year veteran at Lockhart, who took her second achievement award from Ford this year.

—Service Manager Butch Lockhart, Doug's son, who also won a Silver Medallion award.

—Placing in the top 300 in sales volume in the state (262 out of 6,000 dealers).

—Winning, for the seventh year in a row, the Distinguished Service Award. Rongione said only a handful of the 140 Jacksonville District dealers received this award.

—All sales persons on the staff, who each received Society of Professional Sales Counselors honors.

The award Rongione and most of the other folks at Lockhart Ford are most proud of is the Distinguished Service Award. It's the top award Ford gives its dealerships and Lockhart has won it an incredible seven times straight.

In trying to explain the dealership's success, Rongione characterized his staff as organized and competitive. Most of them have been with the firm for several years.

Butch has been with Lockhart for nine years, as has Jackie Rawls and assistant office manager Barbara Alston. Car preparation foreman Artis Vereen has been at Lockhart for 15 years.

"We don't want to break up a winner," Rongione said. "And we have won every major Ford award in every category possible."

With the largest service and parts department in the glades, Lockhart Ford is pricing, Rongione says, to keep customers from going to the coast to shop for vehicles. Keeping its prices competitive and offering superior service are part of Lockhart Ford's marketing strategy, according to Rongione.

Located at 525 NW Ave. L for the last 10 years, the dealership was formerly located at the corner of Main Street and Avenue E, where the B.D. Cole Insurance Building is now.

Residents save energy

PAHOKEE -- Area residents who recycle aluminum are saving energy, cleaning their community and earning cash from Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Company.

During August, Pahokee citizens may recycle their aluminum every Saturday from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. at Pelican Park on East 5th St.

Reynolds pays the public 24 cents per pound for aluminum beverage cans and other clean aluminum items. This price is subject to change without notice.

As an added bonus to recyclers, Reynolds has selected Pahokee as a test market for the distribution of S&H Green Stamps. Recyclers will receive 10 stamps with every dollar's worth of aluminum they redeem.

Aluminum can be recycled again and again. Because of this unique property of aluminum, recycling conserves a valuable natural resource by giving an essential metal new life and putting it right back to use again.

In addition to aluminum beverage cans and other clean household aluminum products such as pie plates, foil, frozen food and dinner trays and dip, pudding and meat containers, Reynolds purchases other aluminum items like siding, gutters, storm door and window frames, and lawn furniture tubing. These items should be cut to lengths not exceeding three feet and bundled separately from cans.

YMCA Glad Day Camp brings joy to Glades youths

by Alma Henry

LAKE HARBOR — When the YMCA's Glad Day Camp closes Friday afternoon at 4 p.m., over 200 kids from South Bay will say goodbye to days of summer fun at John Stretch Park in Lake Harbor.

For the past eight weeks the YMCA of Palm Beach has sponsored a recreational program for students which included trips to the Lake Shore Pool and Glades Skate World in Belle Glade and the movies and other recreational outings in West Palm Beach.

Since 1976 the YMCA has been providing Glad Day Camp for youths living in the Glades, Monday through Friday, from 8 to 4 p.m., 40 youths are picked up in South Bay and transported to John Stretch Park where they participate in recreational activities.

With the assistance of the General Director, Les McWhorter, III and four counselors the youths participated in such activities as basketball, volleyball, tag-football, checkers, scrabble, chess, horseshoes, Frisbee, Jo Kari, fishing, archery, badminton, hiking and a

PBJC--Glades offers Cooperative Education classes

BELLE GLADE — Palm Beach Junior College Glades Campus will offer its students the chance to earn college credit while on the job through the Cooperative Education Program (Co-op).

According to Mrs. Ann Kirby, teacher-coordinator of the program, "Through Co-op the student receives a more meaningful approach to learning."

The program enables the student to combine academic training with challenging and valuable work experience in his or her chosen field.

Anyone who hold a full or part-time job relating to courses being taken on campus is eligible to register. The registration procedure is the same as for any other course.

Mrs. Kirby will supervise and evaluate the student's work experience. This program has been in existence at the Glades campus for two semesters, and students in the fields of management, education, social services and accounting have successfully completed co-op studies.

"We are interested in adding student-employees in the fields of banking or saving and loan, law enforcement, home economics and secretarial occupations," said Mrs. Kirby.

"Co-op education is an educational program, not a financial aid program. The goal is to provide opportunities for study-related learning on the job," she added.

Local businesses will benefit from the program through developing productive employees and increasing the company's visibility in the community through this close relationship with the college.

Members of the Co-op Advisory Committee, who help link the community's businesses with the college are Mrs. Gene Cross, Marvin Unwin, and Mrs. Bonnie Harrelle, along with three college faculty members.

Also offered fall semester both day and evening is a course in career development for students interested in equipping themselves with skills needed to choose a career and find employment.

Anyone interested in becoming a Co-op student or in taking the Career Development course is asked to call or visit the college's Guidance Office to talk to either Mrs. Kirby or Freddie Harrell, counselor.

Business women win state awards

KISSIMMEE -- Seven members of the Pahokee Business and Professional Women's Club recently attended the 1981 Florida State BPW Convention held at the Hilton Inn Gateway in Kissimmee during the month of June.

Ms. Kathi Ligon, president of the local BPW Club said clubwomen attending were Maureen McNulty, Isabel Palacio, Maureen Rudd, Bonelle

Pittman, Faith Sasser, Johnnie Verhulst and herself.

Mrs. Phillis T. Storms of Lake City, presided at the business sessions which lasted four days. The convention's theme was "Decade for Decision: Challenge, Decision, Action."

Ms. Ligon said the Pahokee Business and Professional Women's Club is "proud to announce their being presented the Susan B. Anthony Trophy for the largest percentage of members under 30 years of age."

The Club also received an award for its "October 1980-Meet the Candidates Night". The Club received the Legislative Award from the state level for that project.

Ms. Ligon said because of the number of activities the club sponsored last year, the Pahokee club membership increased by 10 for the 1980-81 year. Because eight of the 10 were under 30 years of age, the Pahokee Club received a citation as first-runner up in that category.

Mrs. Mary Jim Everidge of Plant City was installed as the new president, at the annual banquet held on Saturday evening, June 13.

The Business and Professional Women's Club was founded in 1919 to promote professional standards and prestige for working women, to encourage cooperation among working women and to ensure continuing educational opportunities for women.

With members nationwide, BPW is the oldest and largest organization for working women in the world.

The Pahokee BPW 1981-82 business meetings will be held at the Everglades Federal Saving conference room and at the First Methodist Church of Pahokee at 7:30 p.m., on first and third Tuesday of each month.

variety of arts and crafts projects.

Jackie Parchment, manager of the Palm Beach Housing Authority of South Bay recruited and registered the students who participated in the Glad Day Camp.

The program was alternated each week with the 8 to 10 year olds going one week and the 11 to 14 year olds going another week.

In addition to the recreational activities, the counselors organized a word puzzle contest which encouraged the students to improve their vocabulary. Kimberly Kittles, a nine year old was named the winner of the contest.

The students were also provided with lunch at Rosenwald Elementary School and snacks during the program.

The YMCA is looking into the possibility of starting a similar program in Belle Glade if enough community support is generated.

The YMCA Glad Day staff said they would like to acknowledge the support of South Bay Growers, U.S. Sugar Corp., and the United Way of Palm Beach County for their financial support of the program and the City of Belle Glade for the use of the Lake Shore pool.

Business women win state awards

KISSIMMEE — Seven members of the Pahoee Business and Professional Women's Club recently attended the 1981 Florida State BPW Convention held at the Hilton Inn Gateway in Kissimmee during the month of June.

Ms. Kathi Ligon, president of the local BPW Club said clubwomen attending were Maureen McNulty, Isabel Palacio, Maureen Rudd, Bonelle

Pittman, Faith Sasser, Johnnie Verhulst and herself.

Mrs. Phillis T. Storms of Lake City, presided at the business sessions which lasted four days. The convention's theme was "Decade for Decision: Challenge, Decision, Action."

Ms. Ligon said the Club said clubwomen attending were Maureen McNulty, Isabel Palacio, Maureen Rudd, Bonelle presented the Susan B. Anthony Trophy for the largest percentage of members under 30 years of age.

The Club also received an award for its "October 1980-Meet the Candidates Night". The Club received the Legislative Award from the state level for that project. Ms. Ligon said because of the number of activities the club sponsored last year, the Pahoee clubs membership increased by 10 for the 1980-81 year. Because eight of the 10 were under 30 years of age, the Pahoee Club received a citation as first-runner up in that category.

Mrs. Mary Jim Everidge of Plant City was installed as the new president, at the annual banquet held on Saturday evening, June 13.

The Business and Professional Women's Club was founded in 1919 to promote professional standards and prestige for working women, to encourage cooperation among working women and to ensure continuing educational opportunities for women.

With members nationwide, BPW is the oldest and largest organization for working women in the world.

The Pahoee BPW 1981-82 business meetings will be held at the Everglades Federal Saving conference room and at the First Methodist Church of Pahoee at 7:30 p.m., on first and third Tuesday of each month.

The Apostle Paul said, "Faith without works is dead." The Lord Jesus said, "Truly, truly I say to you, he who believes will also do the works that I do."

Those who believe in a cause will cross oceans or even go to their death. The secret of early Christianity was that the Christians out-thought, outdid, and outdid the pagans.

WEIGHT WATCHERS

WEIGHT WATCHERS IS THE ONLY OWNER OF THE WEIGHT WATCHERS TRADEMARK

Today, Christians who have always spoken out are being out-called as well as being out-thought, out-done and out-died.

It is a rarity when a Christian dies for the cause of Christ.

Belief involves complete trust. It is like swimming. To swim, a person must commit his body to the water so the buoyancy will aid the swimmer.

Christianity means involving the whole body life and purpose to Christ and God.

The key to faith is belief. If we are to have faith we are to trust ourselves to Christ. We cannot keep one foot on the bank and have only one foot in the water and swim.

First, what are we to believe in? We are to believe in the love of God and His sovereign purpose for us and all mankind.

This means we believe that He acts out of love for us, and that His plan is consistent with his same love. Our belief, if it is to be effective, demands that we believe in a God who is sovereign. Our God must be the God of Creation and our salvation.

We are to trust completely in God who knows what we are and how we are and why we are like we are.

But all we are to remember is that He accepts and loves us in our muddles and frustrations.

A strong faith originating in a belief in the sovereignty and love of God must result in works of mercy and evangelism. Christianity, while it does require some dedication, is a faith of action.

Discipleship moves from the stage of being taught to the stage of teaching others.

If your belief means anything to you, you will express your love as Jesus did in actions of compassion. His life was one of compassion, prayer, and spreading the good news of God-hope and life eternal.

The work of the church (the Kingdom of God on earth) is to be carried on by Christians. The works of reconciliation and evangelism are the minimum duty of every Christian.

The Holy Spirit reminds, motivates, and enables you to do what you are supposed to do. He not only gives power (Acts 1:8) but gives you the words to say (Romans 8:26).

Does the task sometimes seem too big for you? If so you are trying to do it by yourself. You can have the power of God. Romans 1:16. "For I am not ashamed of the gospel: it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who has faith, to the Jew first and also to the Greek."

Today is the time of the armchair quarterback. He directs the plays from his comfortable chair in front of his TV. He also may feel that the church isn't doing its job.

Just as the armchair quarterback does nothing directly to aid the cause of the team, neither does the

HENRY AKERS receives a cane knife memento from AREC Director J.M. Good

AREC foreman retires

After 10 years of service to the Agricultural Research Education Center (AREC), Henry O'Neil Akers retired last week, in ceremonies at the Belle Glade facility.

"I will miss it," Akers said. "I liked the challenge of designing machinery. All machinery in this area has to be specially designed because of the mucky soil we have."

In 1970, Akers came to AREC as an instrument maker designer, making many contributions to the engineering and construction of a tomato harvester. He retired as a machine shop foreman, being praised by AREC Director J.M. Good as a "valuable employee."

Before coming to Belle Glade, Akers, 63, worked in Edmore, Mich., with General Electric. He was born in 1917 in Raleigh County, W. Va.

Akers was given a cane knife-plaque and a gas grill by Good and machinist J.M. Barnwell to commemorate his retirement. Refreshments were also served.

"The crops, soil and irrigation...everything about this region is unique. There's muck up north of course, but you can't farm it," Akers said.

"I'm very pleased with my reception here and I enjoyed working for the state. I haven't regretted coming here...the cold winters up there were beginning to be too much."

Akers plans to spend his retirement in Palm Beach Gardens.

4 attend scout camp

Four Glades area scouts are among 30,000 scouts nationwide who have been attending Boy Scout camp at Camp A. P. Hill, Va., during their past two weeks.

Gene Bair, 17, of Belle Glade, and Lester Lindrope, 17, Edward York, 14, and Kevin York, 12, all of Pahokee arrived in time for the opening show.

"Scouting's Reunion with History" is the theme of the camp. The Glades foursome has toured the Yorktown battlefield where General Washington defeated Cornwallis 200 years ago to end the American Revolutionary War, as well as Busch Gardens, and colonial Williamsburg.

Other activities have included electronic path finding, rifle marksmanship, and rafting.

Service planned for Mrs. Price

BELLE GLADE — A memorial service is being planned for Mrs. Katherine Elizabeth Price, a long time member of the Glades community who died Friday, July 31 in Winter Gardens.

Mrs. Price clothed and fed the needy in the Glades for over 30 years. Funeral services will be held for Mrs. Price, 90, Monday at Oakland Presbyterian Church in Winter Gardens. Her body was flown to Salisbury, Md., for burial along side her husband, L.L. Price.

The memorial services for Mrs. Price will be held at the Everglades Presbyterian Church, which she helped found in 1947. The service will be held upon the return of the Rev. David T. Evans from vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Price came to the Glades in 1937. Mr. Price was a farmer and former executive director of the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Price charitable work included clothing, feeding and the housing of migrants and the needy. Her home at 1525 N. Main St., became the center of the hub of activities Mrs. Price had on-going.

Approximately five years ago, Mrs. Price founded the Katherine Price Foundation which took over Mrs.

Price's work when her health began to fail. J.B. Simmons, president of the Katherine Price Foundation said the work of the Foundation will continue if enough community support is generated.

While living in Belle Glade, Mrs. Price was twice named the "Woman of the Year" by the Belle Glade Business and Professional Women's Club and was given a life membership in the Belle Glade Women's Club on her 80th birthday in October of 1970.

Mrs. Price was also the Everglades Presbyterian Church historian until 1964 and taught Sunday School at the church. She received the Chamber of Commerce "Good Samaritan Award" in 1969.

Mrs. Price home still serves at the headquarters for the Foundation. The Foundation purchased the building grant from the Episcopal Church of Florida.

Mrs. Price is survived by four grandchildren and five grandchildren. Family members have asked that no flowers be sent and donations be made to the Everglades Presbyterian Church or the Katherine Price Foundation.

Haitians treated for TB

BELLE GLADE — Members of the Haitian community are still being asked to come to the Palm Beach County Health Department to be screened for tuberculosis after five Haitian children were admitted to several area hospitals for TB treatment last week.

Since the discovery of tuberculosis in the Haitian children, PBC Health officials have tested over 300 Haitians for the disease and approximately 80 were found to have positive skin tests for TB, which means they have been exposed to the bacteria at sometime in their lives.

The health department has begun treatment on those persons who test and clinical signs indicate a person may have tuberculosis.

Dr. Joan Barice, assistant director of the Palm Beach County Health

Department said "unless we have overwhelming influx of refugees, we hope to contain the TB among the Haitians."

At the present there is believed to be approximately 3,000 Haitians or more living in Belle Glade.

Currently, there have been reports of several confirmed TB cases in Palm Beach, Broward and Dade Counties, all among Haitians.

Relay Team. Woodson will participate on the Miami Dade Cross Country and Track and Field teams.

Reopening delayed

BELLE GLADE — Sunset Heights Nursing Home closed by the State Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services on June 17 because of several safety violations hopes to re-open for patients care on Aug. 17.

Sunset Heights Director Miguel Tirado said a repairman's error has caused the nursing home to be closed longer than expected.

Repair to the nurse call system has been delayed due to a shortage of parts. Tirado said when the parts arrived recently, it was discovered not enough had been ordered.

All of the safety violations have been corrected except the nurse call system and as soon as it has been corrected and inspectors from HRS finds everything acceptable, patients presently housed at the Cleveland Nursing Home and with family and friends will return to Sunset Heights.

The home located at 200 S.W. 9th St., is a non-profit corporation run by the Carver Memorial Hospital Association.

The nursing home was order closed after a 10-day break on May 2 in which a patient died.

"Jet" Hester named MVP

GAINESVILLE — Jessie "Jet" Hester, Glades Central Community School's Athlete of the Year and the Most Valuable Player in football and one of Florida's most recruited high school football players, once again was recognized for his outstanding football ability when he was named the MVP at the 33rd Annual All-Star High School Football game held Saturday.

Hester who will play for Bobby Bowden's Florida State Seminoles beginning in September scored two touchdowns in the game that saw the North score four second-half touchdowns to defeat the South 29-20.

The North scored the go-ahead touchdown when quarterback Keith Leonard hit Richard Siler with a 6-yard scoring pass before Hester closed out the scoring with a 33-yard touchdown run for the South with no time left on the clock.

Hester scored the games first touchdown on the first series of plays for the game. Quarterback Willie Martinex of Hollywood Hills hit Hester with a 47 yard touchdown pass. While in Gainesville, Hester roommate was Tony Griffin, who will play for the University of Miami. The two will meet again on Nov. 7 when FSU and Miami meet. Hester rushed for 32 yards and caught four passes for 73 yards in the game.

How I See It

If working wasn't your cup of tea, area churches offered a variety of schedules for students who wanted to attend Vacation Bible School.

The Progressive Mission and Education Baptist Convention of Florida even offered Glades youths the adventure of spending a week on Florida Memorial College Campus in Miami.

And if that was wasn't enough, area clubs sponsored trips to Busch Gardens and Walt Disney World and other Florida Recreation Attractions.

And although the major league baseball team might have been on strike, the Belle Glade Men's Softball league, women's league and the youth's league were busy all summer providing entertainment for the Glades... and their season is not over yet. The youths will be busy this weekend at Lake Shore Park with a tournament and if your schedule permits why not stop by and take a look at what the youths have to offer.

Whew...what a lot to do this summer...wish there was that much to do 13 summers ago...
